

Brought to you by U.S. WIN and the NEXT Team, NEXT·UP is a successful offering with a broad reach to serve motivated women and men seeking advanced studies in self-awareness, self-confidence, and self-value and access to a professional cohort-based community to amplify their leadership impact.

Objective: Provide immersive learning in the areas of self-awareness, self-confidence, and self-value that will help prepare a cohort of motivated individuals ready for their next career opportunity within the nuclear industry.

Who Should Apply: Motivated individuals who are currently in a front-line and mid-level management positions on a succession plan for assuming a senior manager position within 1-3 years.

- Candidates are recommended and supported by their management to participate in the program.
- Inclusion is selective with 30-40 participants
- Successful completion of the program requires full participation, including:
 - One virtual session on July 29, 2026
 - Full day in-person session on August 5, 2026 in Seattle, WA following the U.S. WIN conference.
 - Two virtual sessions on August 12 & August 19, 2026
- Failure to participate in any segment can result in removal from the program and forfeiture of program fee
